TORACCO.

The prospect of this staple product is very gloomy. We saw a few cigare in a tolerably forward state growing just outside the residence of Governor Wise, in Richmond, but they were of the inferior brand known as Cent-a-grab, and suitable only for home consumption. Stumps that were planted early in the season have begun to sprout in a few meadows but they do not wave, nor invite the sickle of the husbandman. Millions of cigar-boxes, bearing the genuine Habana stamp, hie idle. But few plugs of pig-tail have appeared above the ground, and these few droop. Fine Cut has done better. One crop has already been gleaned and is in ricks, awsiting Mrs. Miller's orders. In Virginia the Turkish tobacco is miserably backward, and it is feared that the supply will not be sufficient to meet the demand of the Sultan. The failure of the crop in this State is attributed to John Brown. TOBACCO. City time, Se45 A. M. and 3:36 P. M.

PEANUTS. There is every indication that the country will be favored with an abundant harvest of this truly democratic fruit. The orchards are laden. An agricultural wag informed is that will be favored with an abundant harvest of this truly democratic fruit. The orchards are laden. An agricultural wag informed us that they would Shell Out largely. He said, likewise, that that would be All Nuts to him. These remarks will serve to show the cheerful and confident spirit of the landed proprietors. The establishment of the Pony Express is considered a great thing for Real California. At Benicia, the home of the Boy, we found bushels of nuts literally rotting, the producers having no place left for their storage. It is impossible to describe the beauty of a rolling peanut orchard. It causes the heart involuntarily to acknowledge the bounty of Heaven, and to expand with gratitude for its manifold goodly gifts. The thought will intrude, how sad it is that in a world so glorious and fruitful, man alone should be ungrateful and rebellious! New Jersey is celebrated for its growth of Fresh Rosated. The traveler on Camden and Amboy can not have failed to observe the brilliant buds waving on the hillsides and in the valleys of this teeming region. The sturdy yeomen have reason to congratulate thems-lives upon the success which has crowned their labors. The approach of the Presidential Election, and the speedy production of several dramas at the Bowery theaters, rouder the prospect of a bountiful supply of Fresh Rosated very agreeable. We may confidently anticipate a decrease in the current prices. Two men were sufficiented to death by foul gas in a well in Penobscot County, Me., on the 20th inst. John Arriagton committed suicide at Alexandria, Virginia, a few days since, by shooting bimself.

OLD RYE. Farmer Oldbuck's extensive barns, Farmer Oldbuck's extensive barns, near Lancaster, Penn., are overflowing with this esteemed tod. We were pleased to learn from his overseer that a finer crop, both as to quantity and quality never had been taken. Specimens had been sent to the seat of government—and some went to the head. A large invoice was shipped to Charleston, which had the admirable effect of harmonizing the Convention there in session. Recommandations have been received from gentlemen of the highest respectibility. A member of the Cabinet writes "I drink authing else." Says Gen. Bowman, "your Old Rye, sets up my Constitution daily." We believe the cultivation of it may become general. It is destion of it may become general. It is des-tined in a few years to supplant all other arti-cles in the market. Every Farmer who ex-pects some day to become President should raise it. Directions for planting, etc., can be procured on application at the White House, Washington.

JAPANESE POLISH.

This choice domestic fruit is in a brilliantly forward state of development. Perhaps before this meets the reader's eye it will be in the market. We everywhere observed indications of a yield equal to the necessities of the whole country, while the agriculturists anticipate no difficulty in supplying the wants of the Japanese Embassy. It may not be generally known that the cultivation of the Polish is not carried on in the rural districts, but chiefly in the cities. There are farms of many acres in our midst, the soil of which is devoted to it. The tillers may even be met in the streets, bearing their sheaves with A correspondent of the Ohio Cultivator assemts that the only way to make sure of a crop of peaches, every year, is by grafting upon the wild plum stock. CHAMPAGNE.

The vineyards of New Jersey would gladden the heart of Bacchus himself. Rich juices are blushing through the skin of myriads of excellent apples, and it will require but a few more days of genial sunshine such as is peculiar to Italy and Jersey, to begin the gladsome work of distillation. Thousands of generous and portly bottles, with new corks and labels, are awaiting the effer-vescing fluid. The voyage over Camden and Amboy and the Jersey City ferry will consummate their value. Champagne is one of the most profitable of our staple products. We were informed by one of the heaviest vinters in the apple-growing region, that two hundred per cent, is the average profit on each bottle exported.

The culture of the apple in this warm and juicy State is a great success, and the annual yield of the Jersey Lightning alone is a source of almost unlimited revenue.

FORK.

We have reason to be unfeignedly thankful to the Giver of all good gifts for allowing us the whole hog this year. At Cincinnati we found the storehouses entirely filled with the first crop of bacon, which surpasses in fatness and juiciness any previous yield within our recollection. The Prime Mess beats all. Rumps are glowing with health. In all the Western pig-pastures nature smiles. Beans can always be relied upon.

BOWIS-KMUES.

SOWIS-KNIVES.

Throughout the West and the South the indications are most favorable for an abundant harvest. We saw the blades peeping above the ground in the least sheltered places, while in the warm atmosphere below Mason, and Dixon's line they are flashing out all the while. At Washington they are said to grow spontaneously. Mr. Pryor grows them in his pocket. The impending Dissolution of the Union will create an unparalleled demand for this staple product of our blood-bought soil.

A SEWING-MAGNINE SWINDLER.—A female swindler in Philadelphia, has, within a few weeks past, obtained about thirty sewing-machines, from different persons, under pretense that she wanted to buy them. She applied only to those who advertised a single machine for sale, which she would obtain by representing that she wanted it on trial for a short time, and after getting possession of it, she would sell or pawn it for about half its value.

SAPETY OF RAILWAY TRAVEL IN FRANCE. Calculations based upon the most authentic returns have established that since the inreturns have established that since the in-troduction of railways into France, there has been only one traveler killed outright in every two millions of passengers, and there has been only one traveler wounded in every five hundred thousand passengers.

The First on Washington Mountain.—The recent fire on Washington Mountain, second ing to the Pittsfield (N. H.) papers, was very destructive; the damage being estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000. Hundreds of men were engaged for days and nights endeavoring to extinguish the flames, but it was not until the rain of Monday and Tuesday that their efforts were successful.

EXTRAORDINARY FATHERHOOD.—A Western paper, in describing the effect of a severe thunder-shower, says: "A cow was struck by lightning and instantly killed, belonging to the village physician, who had a beautiful calf four days old."

Formal Reception of the Japanese Em-bassy at Washington The Interview with

dent's mansion:

After a momentary delay, the three Embassadors, walking side by side, entered the room, rapidly advanced a few steps, paused and bent their heads, then advanced again, and again bowed, and finally approached near to where the President stood, and there remained in an attitude of profound respect. They were followed by the fifth in rank of the Commissioners. Nature Commissioners of the latest the latest and the commissioners. They were followed by the fifth in rank of the Commissioners, Narousa Gensiro, who bore in his arms a box containing the letter accrediting the Embassy to the United States Government, and were accompanied by Capt. Dupont, Capt. Lee and Lieut. Porter. For another moment there was complete silence. Then the first Embassador, lifting his head, read in a clear and distinct voice, in his own tongue, his short address to the President.

His words having been translated to Mr. Portman by Nomoura, and repeated to Mr. Buchanan with other manifestations of respect by the Japanese, the box containing the letter before mentioned was taken by the interpreter, Namoura, and held before the first Embassador, who drew from it the document, written on parchment and enveloped in a Embassador, who drew from it the document, written on parchment and enveloped in a silken covering, and gave it to the President, who, in turn, handed it to the Secretary or State. The four Japanese then retired in the same manner in which they had entered, keeping their faces turned toward the President, and inclining their bodies at intervals but soon after returned, this time the fourth in rank of the Japanese Commissioners taking the place which the fifth had before held. The same salutations were performed, and in precisely the same manner. When the Embassadors stood again before the President, the latter read to them his answering address, giving a few words at a time, in order that all might be easily and accurately translated.

order that all might be easily and accurately translated.

A few words of reply having been offered by the Embassador, Mr. Buchanan stepped forward, was introduced to each, and shook each by the hand. Nothing was said, the Embassadors keeping their eyes turned toward the ground, though without any appearance of departure from their unwarring self-possession. The members of the Cabinet were next presented, and subsequently General Scott and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Vice-President was called for, but was not present.

Before the Embassadors retired, some of their principal officers entered the room, and were made known to the President, whom they saluted, without, however, venturing to take his hand. After this, still bowing with formal precision, and never turning their backs the Janeses finally settled.

take his hand. After this, still bowing with formal precision, and never turning their backs, the Japanese finally retired to the auto-room which was reserved for them.

The entire scene was impressive to a degree, of which it is not easy to convey a just idea. The bearing of the President, whose dignified personal appearance added much to the occasion; the quiet grace of the Japanese, their radiant dresses; the plainer, but still sparkling uniforms of the army and navy officers, the glitter of the gaily dressed assemblage, all gave brilliancy of circumstance to an event which, in its gravest aspect, had every claim upon the deepest interest and attention. The interview lasted only half an hour, its briefness aiding its effect.

EXTRAVAGAST AMBRICAN LIPE IN PARIS.—A Paris letter writer observes:

There was a time at Paria when the fetes, the houses, the horses, the carriages, the tables, and even the coats of an American were the wonder, the admiration, and the model of the aristocratic world of the town. I refer to the late Col. Thorn, of New York. Another American Mr. Phalen, also of New York, is fast inheriting the reputation of Col. Thorn, at least so far as regards the magnificence of his receptions. But for the Hotel Montijo, (or the Hotel d'Alba, as it is also called.) Mr. Phalen would have carried off the honors of the winter, in the splendor off the honors of the winter, in the splendor and costliness of his receptions. They are the wonder of the aristocratic faubourg, from which hissociety is almost exclusively made

LAST MONDAY THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE MEMORASEE DANK DAY IN NEW ENGLAND.—
Last Monday was the eightieth anniversary of the memorable dark day in the North. On Friday, the 21st day of May, 1780, a darkness extended over New England and some parts of New York, to such an extraordinary degree that it excited great alarm and consternation among the common people. All the gree that it excited great starm and conster-nation among the common people. All the men of science of that day, and many since, endeavored to fathom the cause, but they never arrived at any satisfactory solution. If our citizens had known this when the tor-nado was gathering here, on Monday, some of them would have been more alarmed than they really were. than they really were.

MUTTON AS AN ARTICLE OF FOOD.—The American Agriculturist says: We mean to repeat a thousand times, or at least till what we say has some effect upon our countrymen, that a pound of lean, tender, juicy mutton can be produced for half the cost of the same quantity of fat pork; that it is infinitely healthier food, especially in the summer season, and those who cat it become more muscular, and can do more work with greater case to themselves than those who eat fat pork. We know nothing more delicious than smoked mutton hams of the Southdown breeds of sheep. Venison itself is not superior.

FALLING OF A SCAPPOLD IN ST. LOUIS-TEN FALLING OF A SCAPFOLD IN ST. LOUIS—TEN MEN INJURED—ONE MORTALLY.—In Saint Louis, Mo., on Monday morning, ten persons were injured, some of them dangerously, by the fall of some scaffolding at the rear part of Trinity Church, in process of erection at the north-west corner of Washington-avenue and Elevonth-street, in that city. At the time of Rievonth-street, in that city. At the time of the accident there were five masons and three common inborers upon the top scaffolding, while two carpenters were at work under-neath. One man, John Norton, died of his injuries, while William Frowley, Dennis Dwyer, J. F. Shannon and Elias Marlatt were seriously, though not dangerously, wounded.

Theodore Parker's Recovery Considered Incommer,—Theodore Parker was, at latest accounts, at Florence, in a state of health calculated to seriously abarm his friends. Pew hopes are entertained of his recovery. During the latter part of April, before reaching Florence, he failed rapidly, and is at present unable to travel any further.

THE ADVANTAGE OF MAKING NOISE,-It is the man who makes the most noise that se-cures the attention of the world. A silent elephant may remain unobserved amid the foliage of the wood, but a croaking bull-frog will be sure to attract attention in the darkest

A SUICIDE PREVENTED BY CRINGLINE.— Helen Strong, a beautiful young girl of soven-teen, attempted to drown herself near Troy, New York, a day or two ago, but was kept above water by the vast amount of crinoline on her person, until rescued. Her confidence had been betrayed by a well-known young man of that city.

ANTI-DUST CARS.—The New York Central Road brings out this week no less than twelve anti-dust cars, so arranged that they are, at all times as free of dust as a drawing-roun. The Central Road has purchased the patent for this car, paying $50,000 for the same.

TERRIFIC LEAPOV A FEWALE SORNAMBULIST.

Letter from the Benicia Boy-His Deter-mination to Fight Again and Win the Belt-The Difficulties in His Path. John C. Heenan writes to Wilker's Spirit of the Times from London on the 5th Inst. as

I am happy to inform you that I am very well and that the little scar I got under the eye is almost entirely gone. In a week or more no one would suppose for a moment that I had ever been hit at all. I need not say anything to you about the manner in which the fight was brought to a conclusion—only this, I have no fault to find with Sayers for anything that was done. It was natural that he should avail himself of every opportunity that offered to save his belt and his hard-earned reputation; but there are others whom I hold responsible for depriving me of what I carned, and all that I am sorry for is, that there is no earthly wayin which I can get redress. I am entirely in the hands of the referce, and he says Sayers had a right to be relieved when I got him "in chancery," so he gave him two months to get his wind and come to time. Rather a long spell This, I think, should be the newest of what is called the new rules of the ring. I am giad to say, however, that through the determination of Mr. W., I have got a day set for a new battle, but I can not mention it at present, as it would come back here in time to interrunt Mr. W., I have got a day set for a new battle, but I can not mention it at present, as it would come back here in time to interrupt the meeting. In the mean time I think I shall go over to Ireland to train, or to some place at any rate where I shall not be harassed as I was before.

They gave me a pretty rough time of it, with their warrants and notices to quit, and want no more of that kind of exercise. I They gave me a pretty rough time of it, with their warrants and notices to quit, and I want no more of that kind of exercise. I must say, however, that I have but little faith in being able to get the belt, though I have the most perfect confidence in being able to win it in less than half an hour. The persons who were willing to bet 100 to 40 against me before will not let me have it under any circumstances, and it must not be forgotten that Mr. Dowling, who showed me so much favor at the last fight, is looked up to by the boxers here as the matural protector of the trophy of Old England. There are a hundred difficulties in the way, and the fighting part is, so far as I am concerned, the least one of all. They now say that the Government will surely interfere to prevent us if we attempt to meet again, and in addition to this they threaten to prosecute us both for what we have already done. Rather tight on the American people, that as the boys say at home; and, to tell you the truth, I am a little uneasy that they may keep their word.

Under this state of things, I shouldn't much wonder now to see Sayers arrested for the first time; and if that course is taken, and he is bound over in a heavy sum, I shall be told that it is not his fault he can not meet me, and the stakes will be drawn, and he will keep the belt, for his term is out sometime in told that it is not his fault he can not meet me, and the stakes will be drawn, and he will keep the belt, for his term is out sometime in June. To become Champion after that I should have to wait till a new belt is subscribed for, and then I would have to fight for it with plenty of the 100-to-40 fellows around to help me to win it. However, I shall still to the project as leaves. shall stick to my point as long as I can and get a new meeting out of Sayers if possible. So if I do not bring over the belt, nobedy shall say that I did not take every fair chance to get it.

P. S.—We will have no speculation in the next fight in the way of railroad trains, or three-guinea tickets. There will be merely a party of twenty-five a side, seconds, principals, speciators, and all told, and then I hope and think that the best man may win.

ADVERTISING FOR A WIFE—A LEATHER-DEALER'S EXPERIENCE WITH FIFTY FEMALE APPLICANTS.—Some months since a whole-saic hide and leather dealer advertised in the Boston Herald for a wife possessing all the necessary accomplishments and graces—lucre he cared nothing for. Hide and Leather was thereupon perfectly overwhelmed with leters, and in less than a week he had received one hundred answers to his advertisement. He immediately opened a correspondence with fifty accomplished females residing in New England States, and "has lately been amusing himself with viaiting them in turn. He gives the damsel due notice of his intention, makes her an evening call, takes her out to ride the next morning, imparts the gratifying information that she has forty-nine "young lady" rivals, and leaves He says that her to righteenthy in "young lady" rivals and leaves! A Dealer in Hay Asked to Preach a Sernon.—In a church in Portland, Me., there were no services last Sabbath—the pastor being absent. It devolved upon one of the worthy deacons of the church to procure a supply. Accordingly he wrote a latter to a neighboring clergyman, requesting him to supply the pulpit on the Sabbath, and at the same time wrote another letter to a gentleman in Boston respecting some hay. The letters were placed in envelopes and dispatched. Judge of the astonishment of the worthy deacon when on Monday he received a letter from his Boston correspondent stating that he had never preached a sermon in his life, and that he must decline occupying the pulpit of the ——Church on Sunday. The letters had been placed in the wrong envelopes. No reply has been received from the clergyman to whom the letter respecting the hay was addressed.

Strange Freaks of Lightning—Wonderful Escape of a Man and his Wife.—At Ortego, N. Y., a few days since the dwelling house occupied by Sanford Northrop was struck by lightning. The fluid tore off both gable ends of the dwelling—ran down the stove pipe, bursting open three or four lengths—threw off a kettle that was standing on the stove, breaking it to pieces—threw the stove covers in every direction—split the wood-box and fire-board into kindling wood—broke the windows out of the kitchen and the glass out of the bed-room window, close by the head of the bed where Mr. Northrop and his wife slept, and doing considerable other damage. Strange as it may seem, except a slight sensation of numbness, the couple escaped without injury.

ENGRADUS REVENUE OF JAPAN, In answer ENGRMOUS REVENUE OF JAPAN.—In answer to a question from Commander Dahlgren, says the New York Tribuse, the Embassadors stated, after some consultation, that it amounted to about $500,000,000, principally derived from tax upon agricultural produce, rice being the staple crop. Of this thirty per cent, is the revenue of the General Government, and seventy per cent, that of the rulers of the several States, each of which has its distinct though tributary and subordinate government. It seems almost impossible that this estimate can have been correctly made, according to our currency. The total is probably exaggerated. It would require a tax of more than $10 a head, or about $50 a family.

THE ALLEGED SLAVER AT NEW YORK .-- AD examination of the bark Cora is now in progress by the U.S. authorities. Twenty-eight hundred kegs of gunpowder have been found on board, which adds to the suspicion that she is a slaver, it being well known that such merchandise finds a ready sale on the African Coast. The District Attorney says it is estimated that each keg of powder reasons. Coast. The District Attorney says It is mated that each keg of powder repr the value of one negro.

A Grat Strangth by a Swind,—Last week, a little daughter of Wm. Baird, residing near Lyons, N. Y., in the absence of the family in the field, became entangled in a swing by her neck, and when found was in the agouse of death.

Washington, May 24.—A philanthropic scene occurred in the ante-room to the Representatives' Hall to-day. A handsome mulatto slave girl appeared in the charge of Dr. Davidson, of this city, with a statement that she had been sold to a negro trader, but by raising $500 cash, and securing the payment of $700 more by the lat of August, also could purchase her freedom. The amount was promptly raised among the Republican members, and the girl is now free.

New Yoras, May 24.—A dispatch from Washington says Henry D. Johnson, of the State Department, is nominated Consul-General to Constantinople.

The impression is now general here that the over-issue of Pacific Mail stock is much larger than supposed. One statement, said to come from the company's office, is said to be 2,400 shares. It is said that certificates for 39,000 shares have been presented for dividends, and that all these are registered in the stock.

The friends of Mr. Seward who are best authorized to speak in his behalf, rebuke in the most emphatic terms the suggestion that he will give a cold or halting support to Mr. Lincoln, or encourage any lukewarmness in oth-cois, or encourage any inkewarmness in others.

So great has been the impression made by Mr. Renjamin's speech in the Senate, that 150,000 copies were subscribed for immediately in that chamber alone, without the list being sent into the House.

Mr. Wendell again appeared before the Covode Committee, and testified that while the President or Cabinet did not specially direct him to apply money to earry the Lecompton Bill through the House, his intercourse with them at that time fully satisfied the inference that he was to be benefited by the expenditure, otherwise he would not have appropriated thirty or forty thousand dellars of his own money.

The expectation was that he would receive remunerating patronage, which was subse-

The expectation was that he would receive remunerating patronage, which was subsequently realised in part. All his testimony on this and other delicate points has been constrained and evidently embarrassed by the knowledge that every disclosure affecting those in authority would involve himself. In comparing his check-book with the accounts of the Bank of the Metropolis, several weeks ago, an item of $240 was found charged to Foster, of Pennsylvania, among the moneys appropriated for electioneering purposes, and dated September, three weeks before the Congressional election. He was then asked whether the Foster thus named was the present Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, who ran against Covode for Congress in 1852. No astisfactory answer could be obtained at the time, but when the interrogatory was repeated to-day, he admitted knowing no other Foster for whose benefit it could have been applied. He said large sums had been entrusted to Mr. Wettle, an ex-member from Pennsylvania, for distribution during the canvass.

The case of Postmaster Reynolds, at Louisville, will be brought before the Committee. He was appointed through the influence of Mr. Guthrie, Ex-Secretary of the Treasury, and it will be proven that he deposited the receipts at a private bank, from which Mr. Guthrie borrowed. Mr. Cobb pronounced this a vication of the Sub-Treasury Law, but through the influence of Postmaster-General Holt, the President keeps him in office.

New York, May 24.—Advices from Kingston, Jamaica, are to the 20th ult.

Mr. Girard, editor of the Colonial Standard, Police Magistrate for the city of Kingston, and one of the most respected citisens in the community, had been detected in extensive forgeries on the Island Banks, and had been sentenced to imprisonment in the General Penitentiary for three years.

Slight shocks of an earthquake had been felt in Jamaics, but the damage done was trifling, when compared with that done in Hayti. In Port-an-Prince the shocks were so violent that it was thought had they continued a second longer not a house in the place would have been left standing.

New York, May 24.—The second trot on the Union Course, yesterday, between "Geo. M. Patchin" and "Ethan Aflen," to wagons, again resulted in the victory of the first-named horse, which won the race in three straight heats. The match was well contested, and excellent time was made, the second heat having been made in 226. There were at least 6,000 spectators within the Course.

Court Dress of the Japanese were much more gorgeous than any in which they had previously appeared. The first Embassador wore robes of blue and purple crape, with richly embroidered trousers of silk. The garments of the second and third were of different shades of green, crape and silk, all very curlously wrought. The secondary officers and interpreters were more simply attired. All had, by means of some artificial contrivance, an unusual expanse of shoulder, which gave them an air of rotundity they do not at ordinary times peasess. The highest dignitaries had peculiar head dresses, shaped like hollow boxes, and set upon the top of the head, where they were confined by long cords reaching down the sides of the face, and passing under the chin. These head dresses were black, about five inches high and six long. They were not cubical, but were broad at the front, tapering to a point behind. They appeared to exactly cover the spot left had upon the head by shaving. The officers next in rank wore similar, though smaller marks of rank.

A Wirry JUVENILE COLLECTOR.—A few days since a little, dirty urchin was sent by a mechanic to collect a small bill. He began in the usual way, but becoming more and more importunate, at last the gen-tleman's patience being exhausted, he said to him:

"You need not dun me so sharply, I am not going to run away."

"I don't suppose you are," said the boy, cratching his head, "but my master is, and he stands very much in need of the money."
